"I'm proud to make Genesee my 98th Capital for a Day as I start my last year as Governor. For 11 years now, my Capital for a Day program has brought senior decision makers from throughout State government together in smaller cities and towns in every corner of Idaho to hear directly from citizens about the issues that matter most to them. It's helped to inform our policies and direct our State resources where they will do the most good. And it's given greater voice to the people of rural Idaho who know where help is needed and where government just needs to get out of the way."
